Prices and Prospects.

COKE PRICES ARE DECIDEDLY FIRMER REFLECTING BETTER STEEL PROSPECTS

Foundry Coke Established at $2.20@$2.40 Ton All Grades.

FURNACE COKE PAT AT $1.75

Negotiations for Second Half Now in Progress With Operators Unwilling to Contract for 1916 at Present Rates, Pig Iron Market Firmer

Special to The Weekly Courier

PITTSBURG May 18 — Contracting for high grade foundry coke has now become active and a very considerable part of consumers prospective requirements have already been put under cover Prospects are that nearly all the regular business will have been written up long before July 1 when nearly all present contracts expire

The market price on the highest grade foundry coke is now well established at $2 40 the only divergence being in the period for which the operators will contract The general opinion is that prices are likely to be very considerably higher before the year is out and the disposition of operators is therefore to contract only for the six months beginning July 1 instead of for the usual twelvemonth period Of the four most prominent makers of the highest grade foundry coke two are reported as firmly maintaining the attitude of contracting only for six months one being uncertain while the fourth is writing contracts for the twelvemonth The operators adhering to the shorter period expect the supply of twelvemonth coke to be exhausted soon Standard foundry coke not of the choicest grade is available down to about $2 20

Prompt foundry coke is in somewhat better demand at prices ranging from $2 to $2 40 according to quality and reputation

The furnace coke market shows no improvement up to date although steel trade conditions have so greatly improved in the past few days that the coke trade is expected to show an improvement very shortly Negotiations are in progress with respect to furnace coke contracts over the second half of the year chiefly with furnaces now in operation though it is understood that one or two idle furnaces are in the market hoping to be able to get into blast by July 1 The usual quotation on second half furnace coke continues to be $1 75 but while a few weeks ago this figure was susceptible of shading in the case of some very fair brands it is now more nearly the minimum of the market with many operators taking the position that better than $1 75 can be obtained later so that for the time being they are not interested in inquiries The market as a whole stands quotable as follows the higher of the prices quoted for foundry coke being for the best brands

Prompt furnace	$1 50@$1 75
Contract furnace to July 1	$1 60@$1 65
Contract furnace to Jan 1	$1 75
Prompt foundry	$2 00@$2 40
Contract foundry	$2 20@$2 40

The local pig iron market has displayed a much firmer tone in the past week though prices are not quotably higher The furnaces in operation are having no difficulty in selling against their current output and if demand continues to increase some idle furnaces will have to be blown in very shortly It is the general opinion that few if any of the idle furnaces will enter the market unless they are assured materially higher prices than those now ruling The market is very firm at former quotations Prices are at Valley furnaces 95 cents higher delivered Pittsburg

PROTESTS HIGH RATES

Coal Company Charges Discrimination by Railroads

The Dilltown Smokeless Coal Company of Brookville Jefferson county has filed a complaint with the Interstate Commerce Commission against the Pennsylvania railroad and the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburg railroad charging discrimination against the Dilltown company in favor of its competitors It is alleged that the Buffalo Rochester & Pittsburg road furnishes other coal companies with plenty of empty cars while it refuses to give the Dilltown company enough for its purposes

It is charged that the Pennsylvania exacts a rate of $1 25 a ton from the Dilltown company on shipments to Buffalo and Black Rock N Y and carries the coal of its competitors for $1 10 These discriminations the commission is asked to stop An examiner will make an investigation of the charges

New Yardmaster

Abraham Rushton has been made night yardmaster for the Pittsburg & Lake Erie railroad at Dickerson Run, succeeding George McGibboney who returns to the train service Mr Rushton took charge last night

Mines Are Resuming

The mines at Pomeroy Bend on the Ohio river are starting up.

THE COKE SITUATION

Coke production remains at approximately 300 000 tons weekly with shipments about the same The merchant interest continues to the a few ovens each week and to slowly increase its production which is now 125 000 tons The furnace interest is putting in no new ovens but this week the Frick company is operating six days In steel circles there is a sudden accession of confidence and bold predictions that midsummer will see the mills operating to labor capacity This optimism has been reflected in merchant coke circles and has caused a sudden stiffening of prices for last half coke

STEEL TRADE CONDITIONS HAVE MATERIALY LIMPROVED

And It Is Freely Predicted That the Mills Will be Operating Full by August 1st.

Special to The Weekly Courier

NEW YORK May 19 — The American Metal Market and Daily Iron & Steel Report will review the iron and steel situation tomorrow as follows

Steel trade conditions have improved materially in the past week and the prospects are greatly improved predictions being made in conservative quarters that by August 1st the steel mills will be operating at the fullest rate the labor supply will permit

The major portion of the Pennsylvania railroad system's projected purchases has been completed and the remaining purchases will probably be completed within a week These purchases include about 16 500 steel freight cars of large capacity about 194 locomotives and about 181 all-steel passenger cars and 148 000 tons of rails The steel involved represents about one-fifth of the steel industry's full capacity for a month or about 4% of capacity for five months during which period most of the deliveries will be completed It is ally expected that other railroads will follow the lead of the Pennsylvania and orders for 1 000 or 2 000 cars may easily be placed within the next few weeks With business already on the books it is not improbable that for a time the railroads will be taking steel equivalent to fully 1 % of the steel industry's capacity a larger percentage than has obtained in nearly two years

Export business has improved further and promises to merge not less than 15% of the steel industry's capacity in future including exports of unfinished steel finished steel and manufactured steel including machinery automobiles etc

With such support from railroad and export business the steel industry is promised as full operation as labor conditions will admit provided merely the ordinary demand of the past two or three months is maintained and prospects seem to be that this demand will increase materially rather than decrease at all

The much better outlook for demand has not thus far stiffened steel prices though a stiffening particularly in plates is probable for the very near future

DENY MUNITION ORDERS

No Money for Expenditures, Say Army and Navy Officials

Army and Navy Department officials are annoyed by persistent reports of heavy orders being placed for munitions in the mills of the country Assistant Secretary of War Breckenridge said that all such reports were without foundation so far as the War Department was concerned

We have not the appropriation to order heavily even if we deemed it necessary he said No provision for heavy expenditures was made by the last Congress Such orders as now are being placed are merely the usual orders for the maintenance of the standard supply

The Navy Department also denied that any heavy orders were being placed Most of the navy's ammunition and war supplies are made in the navy yards of the country and these are not more than normally active

BANKRUPTCY PETITION

Involuntary Petition Filed in U S Court Against J R Barnes

An involuntary action in bankruptcy was filed in United States District Court Saturday against James R Barnes of Uniontown The claims of the petitioners amount to $100 159

Of this amount the First National Bank of Uniontown claims $94 8831 the First National Bank of Connellsville and Claude D Anderson of Connellsville $5 521 98

The claims of the First National Bank of Connellsville represent notes of T V Thompson and the claims of the First National Bank of Uniontown represent judgments and promissory notes endorsed by Barnes

Rate Raise Held Up

The Interstate Commerce Commission has suspended until August 30, proposed advances by the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad on coal to Kentucky points.

CHANGE IN MINING LAW WILL SAVE THE OPERATORS BIG SUM

Necessity of Driving Bore Holes Will be Eliminated.

OUTCOME OF A FAYETTE CASE

Precaution Need be Observed Only in Driving Through Clay Veins Spars or Faults and Not Otherwise if Senator Crow's Bill is Approved

The insertion of the word in into Rule 18 of the bituminous mining code will save the operators of the Connellsville region thousands of dollars providing the measure receives the approval of Governor Brumbaugh The legislation affects the driving of a bore hole three feet in advance of the workings Under a test case brought by Mine Inspector I T Walsh of the Ninth Bituminous District the Fayette county courts ruled that Rule 18 as it now reads requires the miners to maintain a bore hole in advance of all workings of a mine where gas is generated in dangerous quantities As amended the act would require that the bore hole need be driven only in the cutting of clay veins spars or faults

It was said by an experienced mining man that the change in the law would effect a great saving for the operators without in reasing the risk to the men employed in the workings so far as the Connellsville region is concerned Virtually no gas is found in the solid coal of the region that which is generated coming from overhead strata In the other bituminous districts objection might be raised because the solid coal is sometimes gaseous This is particularly true of the Pittsburg district mines

When prosecutions were brought by Mine Inspector Walsh some months ago to enforce Rule 18 the contention of the Connellsville operators was that the requirement should be applied only when cutting through clay veins spars or faults They declared that enforcement of the rule as applied to all workings would place a heavy burden upon them without in any way increasing the safety of their operations The court held that the law required the bore holes to be driven three feet ahead of all the workings

State Senator W J Crow was appealed to and introduced an amendment to Rule 18 to cover what is believed to have been the intention of the framers of the original bill The original rule reads In the cutting of clay veins spars or faults entries or other narrow workings going into the solid coal in mines wherein explosive gas is generated in dangerous quantities a bore hole shall be kept not less than three feet in advance of the face of the work or three feet in advance of any shot hole drilled for a blast to be fired In the amendment makes the rule read In the cuttings of clay veins spars or faults in entries or other narrow workings

The effect of the amendment is to make the law is it was prior to the passage of the new bituminous code in 1911

The veto of the Horton bill regarding safety devices for trips in slope mines is said to bend appointment to several operators who have been using the system of broken switches These operators have been required in addition to their system of details to use the customary spring in the end of the rear car of the trip Under this system the engineer in control of the trip closes the switches when the empties are being lowered into the mine They are opened for a loaded trip the theory being that should the rope break the trip would be derailed upon reaching the first switch The operators it is said hoped through the Horton bill to be relieved from the necessity of using any other safety device Governor Brumbaugh in vetoing the measure held that legislation was unnecessary in view of the fact that the same results could be obtained through proper interpretation of the present law It is said that some mine inspectors have insisted that the springs be used in addition to the derailers The measure was not designed to cover the recent invention of a derailer by Mine Inspector P J Walsh of Connellsville as had been thought by some mining men In which device it is said conforms with all the requirements of the existing law

DECISION IN J. V. THOMPSON SUITS TO BE MADE JUNE 15

Court Announces the Handing Down of Opinion on That Date, Attorneys are Agreed

UNIONTOWN May 18 — Decisions in the petitions for leave to file suits against T V Thompson and others now in the hands of Jurists will not be handed down by Judge J Q Van Swearingen before June 15 This statement was made from the bench shortly before noon today The matter of a decision was brought up by Attorney W J Sturgis one of Mr Thompson's lawyers Attorney Sturgis stated that the attorneys interested in the receivership cases had had several meetings and it was finally decided that it would be better for all interested for no decisions to be handed down before June 15

Attorney R W Playford stated that he had attended the meetings and said that the consensus of opinion was that the attorneys would be satisfied if the decisions were handed down the decisions on June 15 He stated that they wanted to know when the decisions would be handed down by the court

The decisions have been held by the court at the request of all the attorneys interested in the matter said Attorney H S Dumbauld He said that he understood that the opinions were prepared He said that it is true that the attorneys want to know when the decisions will be handed down and said that June 15 would be satisfactory I am of the opinion that no good could be accomplished if the decisions were handed down before that time said Mr Dumbauld

Attorney W J Johnson said that he is anxious to have a decision before that time on the suit of a Philadelphia bank against J W Seamans for leave to sell collateral This was objected to by E C Higbee and Judge Van Swearingen added I think they all ought to be disposed of together when they are disposed of

Attorney D W Henderson said that he agreed to June 15 and I S Lackey said that while he had presented no petitions to bring suits he represented a large number of persons having claims of many thousands against Mr Thompson He said that it was anxious to have the decisions held over

Judge Van Swearingen asked if there was any objection from any of the attorneys None was raised He then said that he has the decisions prepared and signed with the exception of placing the dates in them He stated that he was willing to do what the members of the bar wanted in regard to the matter and said The decisions will not be rendered before the fifteenth of June

COAL TRADE IS SLACK

Uncertainty Marks the Trade in the Pittsburg District

Uncertainty still characterizes the market for bituminous coal in Western Pennsylvania While it is known some of the larger coal operators are selling fuel for lake shipment no circular prices are being offered Frequent reports are heard that attractive tonnages for shipment up the lakes are being sold at less than $2 15 for ¾ inch that figure is being quoted for delivery to the regular line trade Indications are that lake shipments will not be heavy until rather late in the season

Manufacturers using Western Pennsylvania coal quietly are covering needs for the year ending April 1 next The market for future delivery continues to reflect irregularity and normal conditions are not expected to be enjoyed until industries are operating more nearly at capacity

Domestic for stock is described as fairly heavy This grade is selling at 75 cents a ton and above Mine run is named at about $1 a ton for immediate shipment and ¾-inch is quotable at about $1 15 One-and-one-quarter-inch fuel is nominally quoted at $1 25.

CANAL PROJECT IS OF GREAT INTEREST TO COKE OPERATORS

Scheme Still Long Way Off, but It Means Much to Region.

CHEAPER ORE FOR PITTSBURG

Conservation of Interests of the Coke Men Involves Enlarged Markets as Well as Occasional Curtailed Output Opposed by Carriers

Commenting on The Weekly Courier's current coke trade review the Cleveland Daily Iron Trade says

The Connellsville coke trade is in for a sort of scramble these days on hand endeavoring to fit production to shipments and on the other hand to liquidate accumulated stock piles The result is a sort of a seesaw movement which while not considered at all satisfactory yet furnishes more or less interesting local features Production is running along at the rate of 300 000 tons weekly or thereabouts Working time averages of the large producers have been advanced somewhat since they preferred to do this rather than light additional ovens At that a few more merchant ovens have been lighted the past week so that output may exceed slightly 300 000 tons weekly one of these days

The Chicago pig iron market is showing slightly more disposition to take on strength and this partly is due to the undoubted strength of the southern pig iron markets Southern makers are holding firmly to $10 to $10 Birmingham for last half delivery It seems likely however that the minimum figure might be shaded slightly for prompt iron but whether for anything than an attractive tonnage is a question Other iron market centers are quiet with some desultory inquiry coming out But although Lake Superior ore interests appear to have prepared fewer lake docks for heavy ore movement later in the year so far the pig iron markets tributary to the Connellsville coke regions for fuel have not shown decided signs of revival

The seesaw movement has been with furnace operations rather than with the merchant ovens The merchant operators have kept their production well within the demands of the market for the past week notwithstanding the falling off in demand which necessitated the blowing out of so many ovens In April 1911 merchant production was 130 000 tons It August it had fallen to 100 000 tons and in November to 80 000 tons The year 1911 opened with production approximating 10 000 tons At the close of the first quarter it had risen to 107 000 tons and is now 125 000 tons Throughout all this varying fortune production was kept remarkably close to demand All that saved the contract market from going to pieces was the fact that a number of merchant operators preferred to go out of business rather than to go into bankruptcy

The truthful observation of the iron trade is that the pig iron markets tributary to the Connellsville coke regions for fuel have thus far shown no decided signs of revival suggests the fact that a ship canal from the Lakes to the Pittsburg and Valley districts would greatly stimulate pig iron production in those sections and largely increase the demands for Connellsville coke The canal has long been under consideration but it seems yet to be a long way off It would no doubt be inimical to the railroad interests and they naturally oppose it Yet the canal might to make it possible to lay down Lake ore in the Pittsburg and Valley districts considerably cheaper than present costs The canal proposition is one in which the iron manufacturers of the Pittsburg and Valley districts and the coke operators of the Connellsville region should perhaps take a greater interest

The conservation of the Connellsville coke interests involves enlarged markets as well as occasional curtailed production.

Production and Output.

CONNELLSVILLE COKE SHOWS STRENGTH IN PRODUCTION AS WELL AS IN PRICES

The Output is Now 300,000 Tons and Constantly Increasing.

MIDSUMMER BOOM EXPECTED

It Will Find Short Labor Supply and This Makes Price Boom Probability Instead of Possibility and the Coke Operators Are Feeling Much Better.

The Connellsville coke trade is showing strength in production as well as prices Confidence is growing in operating circles and the announcement that the steel mills are likely to be in operation as fully as labor supply will permit by August 1 has convinced many producers that a midsummer boom in coke has advanced from a possibility of a probability This feeling is reflected in prices as indicated elsewhere The Frick company ran five days last week and cleaned up all its outstanding coke This week the orders are for six days all around though this may be succeeded by slower time next week The coke end of the United States Steel Corporation has manifestly held itself in readiness to meet better demands for furnace fuel by keeping its working forces together during the dull times of the past year The plan has been to give work to as many men as possible by operating a larger number of ovens on a smaller time schedule This has been welcome to the employes some of whom would otherwise have been necessarily sent adrift. If the boom in coke does come it will find the merchant interest ill-prepared to operate to its full capacity and this is counted upon to produce a scarcity of coke that will naturally cause some price aviations which will help the poor general average of the past year Most of the merchant production is or will be tied up in contracts at low rates, so that any fancy prices will not so seriously affect pig iron costs as they may seem to do

The coke trade has upon the whole improved considerably with the year, but the improvement has been rather irregular The year started out with furnace interest producing 115 000 tons weekly from approximately 10 000 active ovens The number of ovens was increased in February to over 13 000 practically what it is now, and production swept up to 170 000 to 180 000 tons and has so continued The increase in merchant business has been slower and more laborious The number of active merchant ovens declined to less than 7 000 after the opening of the year with production around 90 000 tons weekly It was not until March until the merchant business showed signs of improvement The first quarter opened up with 8 000 active ovens and 113 000 tons production This has since been increased to 8 700 ovens and 124 000 tons production

Production for the week ending Saturday May 15th was 297 554 tons of which the merchant interest made 124 334 tons and the furnace interest 173 220 tons By districts the Connellsville region produced 158 225 tons and the Lower Connellsville region 139,329 tons Compared with the previous week this indicates an increased merchant production of 1,961 tons and a decreased furnace production of 3 571 tons making a net decrease of 1 612 tons

Shipments for the week ending Saturday May 15th aggregated 7 919 cars carrying 295,967 tons consigned as follows

District	Cars	Tons
Pittsburg	2 771	101 263
West	4 461	171 [illegible] 0
East	677	21 079

Compared with the previous week this shows an increase of 5 952 tons. Shipments were better all around but the chief gain was to western points, being 4 016 tons Pittsburg increased her consignments 1 867 tons Eastern shipments remain practically stationary They have become a rather small factor in the Connellsville trade The Upper Connellsville and Greensburg Connellsville districts are shipping almost as much coke to eastern points

There were no changes in the ovens of the furnace interest The merchant interest lighted 100 ovens at American No 1 and 40 ovens at Marion, but put out 30 at Crystal and 10 at Sapper. These with minor changes show a net gain in the active merchant list of 114 ovens

COKE PRICES SUFFER

Southern Foundry Coke Firms Up With Active Market.

The foundry coke market is active Prices are a little stiffer but they have not changed since the Cincinnati correspondent of the Daily Iron Trade Consumers are beginning to buy for next year's requirements with contracts to expire about July 1 1916

Wise county foundry coke is quoted at $1 90 to $2 25 and $2 50 for contract shipment Pocahontas foundry at from $2 10 to $2 15 and New River foundry at from $2 50 to $3 No activity is noted in furnace fuel branch of the market

REDUCE RATES ON IRON ORE

Roads Serving Ranges in Minnesota Will Voluntarily Cut Tariffs

According to information from what is regarded as an official source the railroads serving the iron ranges in Minnesota will voluntarily reduce the ore rates from the mines to upper lake ports to 75c effective June 1

This reduction has been ordered by the Interstate Commerce Commission but the roads have anticipated the reduction in order to encourage an earlier movement of ore.

FOREIGN MARKETS COSTLY FOR U. S. MINES TO CARRY

Freight and Insurance Run Figures to Prohibitive Point.

SPAIN HAS ITS LITTLE JOKE

Credit Balance Deposited in This Country Would Pay for Just 20,000 Tons, Delivered Abroad the Bituminous Situation Improves

For the first time in a long period a moderate ripple of improvement is noted in the bituminous coal trade the direct result of irregularly distributed but increased inquiry due to the starting up of factories, especially for the manufacture of munitions of war says Financial America

In regard to the prospects of a stimulus to exports of coal from the United States to foreign countries, it is said that there is better export business but that the improvement so far is not material

The restriction upon exports of coal by Great Britain is to an extent due to some curtailment of labor at the coal mines as a result of the urgent requirements for men at the front Aside from this it is a matter of policy to conserve the coal which is now of unusual value to the requirements of Great Britain itself and its allies.

England will continue to furnish coal to France and to Italy With the last mentioned country some of our largest coal producers have had contracts for as far back as 15 years

We referred some time ago to efforts that were about to be made to ship American coal to France It was found that the cost would be close to $18 a ton on account of the freight and insurance At present individual shippers of any material find it almost impossible to operate owing to the heaviness of freight and insurance costs. The transportation of war material for the various allied governments is another matter as the British admiralty has a large number of vessels under charter

As an illustration the reported $200 000 Spanish credit in this country for the purchase of coal would not represent more than 20 000 tons of fuel Freight insurance and other costs on shipments from this country to South America at present are anywhere from $12 to $14 a ton The prices obtainable for the coal run as a rule up to about only $3 a ton

Although the improvement in the soft coal trade now in evidence has been only moderate so far the fact that there is any betterment at all greatly encourages railroad officials For such roads as the Pennsylvania the Baltimore & Ohio the Chesapeake & Ohio, the Norfolk & Western the condition of the bituminous industry is of great interest as that fuel furnishes for them one of the largest items of tonnage The Reading is a soft as well as a hard coal carrier and so are the Erie and many other lines This improvement in soft coal if continued is certain therefore to make a very important difference on the right side of the profit account. In addition to the companies on whose lines soft coal is mined there are a number of others whose sole interest in the tonnage is that of a carrier as for instance the Buffalo Rochester & Pittsburg

WILL COMPILE COAL FIGURES

C. L. Lesher Gets Position Given up by Edward W Parker

C. E Lesher associate geologist of land-classification board of the United States Geological Survey has been assigned by the director of the survey to take charge of the work of compiling the statistics of coal production published in the annual volume Mineral Resources This work heretofore has been directly under Edward W Parker whose resignation from the Geological Survey is effective July 1

Mr Lesher will continue his services as a member of the land classification board although the reorganization of that work will relieve him of the greater part of his duties in connection with coal land valuation

AFTER MANY YEARS ELECTRIC MINE LAMP HAS BEEN DEVISED

Edison's Invention Makes Possible for Miners to Have a Perfectly Safe Lamp

It is a strange anomaly in the last few decades which have been marked by such a wonderful degree of development of things electric that it is just recently that the first really practical electric lamp for miners has made its appearance

Mine fires in the past have been the cause of an old and inestimable loss of natural resources yet despite the efforts of inventors and engineers nothing more satisfactory in the nature of a portable lamp for miners was brought forth than a developed and improved Davy lamp in which the flame above the underground worker's forehead is protected by wire gauze which conducts away the heat before it can penetrate to the more or less inflammable gases which may be present in the atmosphere of the mine It is a simple apparatus and dependable within limits but in this day of mechanical perfection it is crude, an archaic relic

The new Edison mine lamp battery is contained in a small nickel steel can of convenient size and weight to be strapped at the back of the belt It is tightly covered and from it a flexible tube carrying the insulated wire is brought up over the back of the head to the incandescent lamp fastened to the front of the miner's cap It is a fool proof apparatus which requires no attention whatever from the miner and which he cannot open For the outfit properly charged and with the current turned on is handed to him at the mouth of the mine with the cover locked It will continue to produce light until the battery is surrendered when he emerges from the workings or until the battery is exhausted

Those in charge of the batteries have nothing to do but unlock the covers hook them up to the power source and recharge for the next day's work The materials in the batteries are permanent the roughest jarring produces no ill effects and the battery does not have to be fully exhausted before it is recharged Even such mistakes as the reversal of the charge do not permanently injure the battery and it may be left for indefinite periods charged uncharged or semi-charged without appreciable loss Specific gravity readings of the electrolyte are unnecessary and the only care required other than that of recharging is the replenishing of the electrolyte about once every 10 months and the occasional addition of distilled water to replace that lost by evaporation Other parts of the battery are unchanged by its operation The plates never have to be renewed

CANNOT SELL HOMES

Coal Operators Seldom Own Surface Occupied by Tenant Quarters

The oft repeated charge that miners in West Virginia and other states are not home owners ... has been answered by a student of the conditions in West Virginia who shows that in most cases the operators could not sell homes to the miners no matter how much they might want to He has also pointed out that it would be unwise for a miner to buy a home in the camp even if it could be sold to him

In the first place there are but few tracts of coal land in West Virginia which are owned in fee simple by the mining companies Nearly all of the land is leased for the purpose of getting out the coal and they have no right to sell it to miners or anybody else And they do not, but not having the right to sell the operating companies do the best they can under the circumstances They rent homes and an investigation will show that house rent costs less in mining villages than anywhere else in the country

SOUTHERN IRON QUIET

Orders Early in May Somewhat Behind April Record

The sales of iron by the Sloss-Sheffield Steel & Iron Company for the first week of May indicated quieter conditions in the southern iron market than prevailed during April That month the company took contracts for a large amount of iron to be delivered through the year It is making now about 18 000 or 20 000 tons a month

It is understood that the sales for the first week of May were not largely in excess of the output for that period There has been no change in prices The demand so far seems to be of a more or less spasmodic character

RAILROADS MUST GIVE UP HOLD ON THE LAKE TRAFFIC

Interstate Commerce Commission Says There Must be Competition.

INDEPENDENTS TO GET CHANCE

Decision May Change Trade Routes of Country's Vast Tonnage Between the Northwest and the Coast, Some Boat Lines Operated at a Loss

In one of the most far reaching decisions of recent years the Interstate Commerce Commission Saturday decided that the railroads owning and operating steamship lines on the Great Lakes must give them up after December 1

The principal Eastern trunk lines which carry the great volume of freight traffic between Atlantic Seaboard and the West are affected and the decision may partially alter the trade routes over which are moved millions of tons of the West's rich stores of raw materials—principally grain and ores to the east and millions of tons of manufactured products to the West and Northwest

In effect the decision establishes a water route, independent of railway control from New York to Duluth and other westernmost points on Lake Superior and to Chicago and other points on Lake Michigan through a chain of waterways—the Hudson river Erie canal the Great Lakes and connecting rivers

The commission points out that the Great Lakes for many years dominated by the railroad-owned fleets will again be opened to independent shipping and that the Erie canal again has the opportunity of becoming a main waterway of traffic.

Under the Panama Canal law railroad ownership of connecting water lines is forbidden unless the Interstate Commerce Commission holds that public convenience and necessity are served thereby The commission finds to the contrary that 'The interests of the shipping public will be conserved and those of the best lines will be bettered by the divorcement

Under the law the Pennsylvania Northern Central Lehigh Valley New York Central Rutland Erie Grand Trunk and Lackawanna railroads petitioned the commission to retain their fleets, which are operated by separately incorporated transit companies While they operate principally between Buffalo and the upper lake ports some of the ships operate also to the far eastern point of the lake chain beginning at Ogdensburg N Y

During the months of navigation those lines haul freight from the seaboard to Buffalo where it is transferred to ships and sent on up the lakes for the West Likewise the traffic is brought down the lakes and loaded on trains at Buffalo for the East The land lines of the railroads skirting the shores of the lakes serve competing territory and freight rates called lake and-rail rates are fixed for the combination rail and water journey

This the commission held has stifled competition and the boat lines first used as a sword by the railroads to drive independent ships off the lakes are now held as a shield against possible competition of new independents

Since it appears from the records that the railroads are able to operate their boat lines at a loss where there is now no competition from independent lines says the commission it is manifest that they could and would operate at a further loss in a rate war against independents The huge financial resources of the owning railroads make it impossible for an independent to engage in a rate war with a boat line so financed

'The right to use the waterways of the country as a means of transportation is a natural right but this right may not be abused to the injury of others and it is the public right that the waters to be so used as to return benefit to the people The waterways of the country furnish ready-made road beds for transportation routes on which the rates for shipment may be made low because of this physical fact But these articles of commerce without boats to ply on them are useless for transportation purposes And although there may be many boats plying on these water routes they may be so operated as to produce practically the same condition of things as would exist were there no boats afloat

The boat lines operating on the Great Lakes in conjunction with the barge lines operating on the Erie Canal furnish a through water route from western lake ports to the eastern seaboard It is significant from the records in these cases that the through route arrangements and the interchange of traffic between lake lines and those canal barge lines have been terminated under the joint ownership of the lake lines and the traffic has practically disappeared to the injury of the boat lines and of the Erie Canal barge lines on eastbound traffic It is contrary to the interests of the owning railroads operating from Buffalo east for their boat lines to continue any through operating arrangement with these canal barge lines for the movement of eastbound traffic There is no power in this commission to require the establishment of a through route between the Erie canal but under divorcement the lake lines will be free to make arrangements for the through carriage of freight in connection with the Erie Canal barge lines and it will be to their interest to do so The interests of the shipping public will be conserved and those of the best lines will be bettered in this respect under divorcement

Higher Steel Rates.

Proposed increased rates on scrap steel and iron from the Mississippi Valley and gulf ports to St Louis Ohio river crossings and beyond were justified by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

PENNSYLVANIA LINES LET BIG EQUIPMENT CONTRACTS

Will Spend $15,000 000 For Cars Alone and Pittsburg Gets a Good Share of Order

Negotiations have led to the placing by the Pennsylvania lines of a $15 000 000 order for freight cars alone This order is for 14 000 cars and comprises equipment for all lines It includes the 100 car contract of the Lines West which was let Saturday The order for 70 locomotives at $1 000 000 for the Lines West also have been let The car orders are for all steel open top cars refrigerator cars and box cars

It was made known that the Pressed Steel Car Company received orders for 2 000 of the cars for the Lines West The Standard Steel Car Company was awarded contracts for 800 cars for the same lines and the Ralston Car Works of Columbus was given a 1 000-car order by the Lines West The 100 refrigerator cars for these lines will be made by the American Car & Foundry Company and 2 700 cars will come from the Haskell Barker Company of Michigan City Ind

The Lines West order for locomotives was given to the Lima Locomotive Works and the Baldwin Locomotive Works each company receiving contracts for 25 engines The letting of the 43 passenger car order for the same lines has been delayed to the end of this week They will cost $500 000

A GOOD SHOWING

Steel Corporation's Unfilled Tonnage for April Encouraging

The United States Steel Corporation in its monthly statement reports unfilled orders on its books as of April 30 last of 4 182 244 tons This compares with 4 277 749 tons on March 31 a decrease of 93 505 tons and with 4 277 068 tons on April 30 1914

The decrease of 93 505 tons in unfilled orders was considered satisfactory in steel circles where in some quarters a drop of more than 100 000 tons was looked for It was figured that this meant bookings of something over 700 000 tons for the month as at 70% of capacity the Corporation is turning out approximately 815 000 tons monthly Some steel men claimed this was remarkable in view of the fact that operations have been increased and are going steadily at the rate mentioned heretofore and also because prices on some articles have been advanced only recently

One independent steel man said This showing is very good and while I understand May thus far has been backward I don't doubt orders will be more plentiful later in the month The promise of the future is better and specifications against some domestic contracts are improving We must not lose sight of the fact that orders taken on now are at higher prices and will mean increased earnings for all the steel companies

SPAIN WANTS COAL

Places Deposit as Credit for Purchases United States

The Spanish government is so much concerned over the scarcity of coal that the cabinet is willing to guarantee the payment of orders placed in the United States by opening a credit in New York to the amount of at least 1 000 000 pesetas ($200 000) The deposit will be maintained as long as necessary Something like a coal famine exists throughout Spain and large orders are being placed in the United States by Spanish companies A royal decree promulgated suspends the import duties on coal and the transport taxes which were discriminatory against America

The British government has prohibited the export of coal and coke Spain cannot get them from Germany hence she must turn toward the United States for coal Last year Spain imported about 3 000 000 tons of coal

English coal which sold at 70 pesetas ($14) a ton at the outbreak of war now brings 100 pesetas ($20) a ton

RUINOUS REGULATION.

"Government regulation of the railroads met with an unmistakable public protest last fall when it became apparent that the railroads were being regulated to death. A halt was called and the long-denied freight advance was given.

"But the habit of hacking and hewing at the trunk of the transportation tree is ingrained and irresistible. The latest and most striking evidence of the fact is found in the legislation of the last Congress and a decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission in pursuance thereof which directs that the railroads must divest themselves of ownership in any and all steamship lines operating on the Great Lakes by December 1, next.

It is hard to understand why railroads should not operate boat lines. The efficiency of transportation systems, that is to say their ability to carry freight and passengers over wide expanses of territory at minimum costs and with maximum promptness, depends upon their harmonious interlocking connections. It may be laid down as a rule that the bigger the system the better able it is to serve the public.

Railroad regulation should confine itself to the conduct of such systems with respect to their charges, their capitalization and such other matters as are sensible and salutary, and not devote its energies to the tearing apart of great systems of transportation making for efficient service at lowest cost. Such disintegration means degeneracy. It should be the effort of the government to build up the railroads, not to tear them down.

The same logic applies to our large industrial interests. This will become more clear when we enter the markets of the world on a larger scale.

THE GERMAN NOTE.

After several days of deliberation and consultation with his Cabinet, President Wilson has promulgated his demands upon Germany in the matter of the loss of American lives on the British liner Lusitania and the destruction of certain other vessels of American register.

While the note leaves matters open to diplomatic adjustment, it also invites a flat refusal which may prove very embarrassing. This is unfortunate since the communication as a whole is a wholesome and timely reminder to the European belligerents of how far they have fallen in the scale of civilization since they began to ignore the accepted rules of international warfare.

It is also unfortunate that a similar protest has not been lodged with Great Britain, or that that nation and all other belligerents were not given officially to know that the rebuke is intended for all, and that it is an earnest invitation to return to civilized warfare again. his would include the lifting of the British embargo on foodstuffs for German ports, which was the first offense against humanity, and which is said to have been the direct cause of the submarine warfare upon British shipping.

We mourn the loss of more than a hundred American citizens in the sinking of the Lusitania, but the European nations are fighting desperately, and as they firmly believe for their very lives. In doing so they are sacrificing their own people, not by hundreds or by thousands, but by millions.

We must recognize the fact that fighting conditions have changed, and that it is necessary to modify the rules of war. While it is proper for this nation to interpose its influence on the side of humanity, we must not expect to make the rules of the game unless we become a successful party therein, which God forbid!

OUR FOREIGN COAL TRADE.

The European war has drawn a cordon about Germany which has made it rather awkward for that nation in some respects and for its neighbors in other respects. Germany, for example, finds it necessary to conserve its foodstuffs and place them under government control because of England's policy of starving Germany into submission. On the other hand, some of the other European nations are suffering for lack of coal hitherto at least partially supplied by German mines. England has just prohibited any further exportation of its coal. The Belgian and French mines are largely in possession of the Germans.

This would seem to be America's opportunity to cultivate foreign coal business. Spain is threatened with a fuel famine and has placed a credit of $300,000 in New York for the purchase of coal in this country, at the same time cancelling its import duty and transportation tax which have operated against American coal. Contracts are now being made for this coal and it is going forth at good prices. English coal commanded $20 per ton when its shipment was shut off.

The European coal trade of the United States has hitherto been chiefly with Italy. In the last fiscal year this nation bought $2,250,000 worth of our coal out of a total of less than $3,000,000 worth. This year Spain will take 3,000,000 tons alone, which at current rates would amount to over $60,000,000. France itself will need 27,000,000 tons to make up the curtailment of her own production and the loss of imports from England and Belgium.

The ability of the United States to supply foreign markets may depend in some measure upon the result of certain diplomatic correspondence now going on between Washington and Berlin, but just at present it seems to have large possibilities.

JINGOISM.

President Wilson has voiced American sentiment in the matter of the Lusitania massacre, and while we have nothing further to say on that matter save to regret what looks like discrimination in the demand for more civilized methods of warfare, we note with approval the following editorial taken from the New York Sun. It is directed to the jingo element which has been ranting about the 'sexless policy and conduct of our affairs." In common justice to the President, The Sun proposes this form of pledge for citizens of this sort:

"In case war between the United States and Germany and her allies should result from the course now taken by President Wilson's administration with regard to the German massacre of non-combatant American passengers on the British ship Lusitania, I, ———, an American citizen by birth (or naturalization), pledge my entire fortune, if required, and my life, if needed, for the prosecution of hostilities. I promise, on my honor, to put my person at the disposition of the United States Government for military or naval service immediately after declaration of war or the beginning of a state of war thus induced.

The Sun maintains that "any citizen willing to back his sentiments with a pledge of this character is entitled to demand of the President immediate action leading to war. He is qualified to urge the administration to lose not an instant in swinging wide open the doors of the Temple of Janus. No better evidence of the good faith of his advice could be expected of him. The man in the street, the newspaper proprietor or editor, the former official, the politician, the partisan sympathizer with the cause of this or that one of the present belligerents who himself is ready to enlist and is not merely commanding a war which other men are to fight and for which other men are to pay, has at this time the first claim upon the President's respectful attention. The advice and ideas of others may be useful and desirable to the administration; but something is lacking when the certificate of this personal pledge is not there."

J. V. PROVING UP.

The people who have taken it upon themselves to discredit the statements of Josiah V. Thompson concerning the large loan he is negotiating for the liquidation of his indebtedness will find it hard to explain the presence here of certified public accountants of high repute checking up the holdings of Thompson and his associates and appraising them. It is certain that somebody has this loan under serious consideration to say the very least, and it is not at all unreasonable to assume that the money will be forthcoming if the report of the accountants is satisfactory. It is hardly possible that this report can be otherwise in view of the enormous coal land holdings known to stand in the name of Thompson and associates. In conclusion it may be said that there was never any reason to doubt the statement of J. V. Thompson concerning this loan. The Uniontown banker seldom talks for publication, but when he does he is careful to make none but accurate statements.

RAILROAD CONSERVATION.

The B. & O. Conservation Committee is due pretty soon. This committee was born of hard times, but it was a happy inspiration, and the wonder of it is that nobody ever thought of sifting railroad junk before. The waste of iron and steel which prevailed in railroad operation was enormous. Many of the railroads were actually buying back their old junk as new material, which in fact it was. "Necessity is the mother of invention," and the father of innovation, and this innovation has come to stay. In fact, conservation in railroad management has become necessary. The margin between revenues and expense has become too narrow to warrant waste or extravagance in any form.

SIMILAR BUT DIFFERENT.

The Uniontown Standard wants to know what notable features of its editorial page have long been common to The Courier. Past local history in tabloid, the employment of special features, and lastly, what passes for editorial comment. Features uncommon to The Courier are attempts to purloin other editorial thoughts and palm them off as original, intemperate language and wilful misrepresentation. ACTION OF THE 85TH REGIMENT IS VINDICATED

History of Famous Fighters Shows Heroism at Seven Pines.

BORE BRUNT OF THE ATTACK

Volume Published by Late Norman B. Ream Refutes Charges of Cowardice Which Had Been Lodged Against the Heroes Enlisted In This Section.

Complete vindication of the Eighty-fifth Pennsylvania Volunteer Regiment, accused of "ignominious conduct" at the battle of Seven Pines during the Civil War, is contained in the history of the regiment, compiled by Comrade Luther S. Dickey, and just recently issued. Research by the author has resulted in the discovery of proof that the company maintained a pivotal position during the great battle in which Casey's Division bore the brunt of the Confederate attack. Other troops got the credit that the Eighty-fifth was entitled to, and the history was largely published with a view of enlightening the country as to the true state of affairs in that memorable battle. A copy of it has been received by The Courier through the courtesy of the estate of Norman B. Ream, the financier, who died recently in New York City.

At a meeting of the committee of regimental history of the Eighty-fifth Regimental Association in Pittsburg on February 10, of this year, it was decided that the volume, then in press, should be dedicated to the memory of Brigadier General Joshua Blackwood Howell, the "father of the regiment" and First Lieutenant Norman Bruce Ream, the youngest officer of the regiment.

In the dedication, General Howells is spoken of as "a typical American citizen, soldier and gentleman," and Lieutenant Ream is referred to as "a distinguished citizen, a true gentleman and a worthy comrade."

The volume contains but two portraits, those of General Howell, the oldest officer in the regiment, and Lieutenant Ream, the youngest. It is arranged chronologically in narrative form, and tells of the activities of the Eighty-fifth from its inception to the time it was mustered out of service with reminiscent narratives by surviving members, and biographical sketches. Luther S. Dickey, the author, is official historian of the regiment.

The history makes special reference to the battle of Seven Pines, misnamed Fair Oaks, Casey's division, of which the Eighty-fifth was a part during its entire existence, stood the brunt of that battle, instead of achieving fame in making an heroic stand against an overwhelming force of the enemy it was charged with cowardly conduct in retiring to avoid being made prisoners of war. Research, however, proves that the Eighty-fifth was assigned to what proved to be the pivotal point of the battle and maintained that position for more than three hours, retiring from it at last, only to avoid being surrounded by the enemy, while other troops which were at no time near the line maintained by the regiment have been officially and historically credited with making a gallant defense of this point.

Comrade Dickey, the author, witnessed the beginning of the battle of Seven Pines at the extreme point, from the picket post from which the first musket shot was fired at the advancing Confederates. As a youth of 17 Sergeant Ream witnessed the first three hours of the battle of Seven Pines at the immediate right of "Casey's Redoubt."

The organization of the regiment by Joshua B. Howell, then an attorney in Uniontown the law partner of the late Judge Nathaniel Ewing, is described at some length, with appended letters of recommendation from prominent residents of this section of the state among them A. Stewart, famous "Tariff Andy," James Veech of Connellsville, Edgar Cowan, United States senator of Greensburg, and John F. Bentel, editor of the American Standard of Uniontown. After organizing 11 companies, in which there were hundreds of men from Fayette county, the regiment encamped at Uniontown, and left for Washington on November 26, 1861 passing through Connellsville about noon, where two more cars were added to the train.

Every detail of the regiment's activity is covered by means of excerpts from diaries of the soldiers and letters written to home newspapers.

The regiment was enlisted largely from this section, though Connellsville men were represented mostly in the 112nd regiment. Among those from nearby towns and townships were the following:

Field and Staff: Abraham Miller, commissary sergeant, Connellsville; Robinson Elder, hospital steward, Springfield township; Henry L. Regar, principal musician, Connellsville.

Company B: Absalom S. Dill, first lieutenant, Perryopolis; James H. Keane, Samuel Stevens, I. P. Overholt, John B. Norris, Benjamin Orbin, sergeants; Broad Ford; George Strawn, John S. Shallenberger, Perryopolis; and Alexander F. Hutchinson, Broad Ford, corporals; and Privates John H. Cauds, Joseph Wilhast, Connellsville; J. S. Newcomer, P. H. Raffcorn, David Shupe, James Torrence, Joshua Torrence, Jacob Younkin, Broad Ford, and Josiah Sterrett, Perryopolis.

Company C: Largely made up of Brownsville, Uniontown and Fayette City.

Company D: Men from Uniontown, Zollarsville, Bentleyville, etc.

Company E: Men from Washington, Brownsville and Uniontown.

Company F: Washington and Greene county men.

Company G: Fayette, Greene and Washington counties.

Company H: George H. Shaw, Connellsville first sergeant; Henry L. Regar, Connellsville, corporal; Joseph Dawson, Hamilton Graham, Abraham Miller, William Hare, Connellsville, privates. Lott Rush, Harnedsville, now of Connellsville.

Company I: Uniontown and nearby townships.

Company K: William T. Campbell, John F. Campbell and Reason Smurr, Springhole township, first lieutenants; John Odenstock, Springfield township, second lieutenant; James F. Imel, Coalson Conghenour, William Showman, Jacob D. Miller, Zachariah Snyder, Samuel Grim, Daniel Miller, William H. Murphy, Springfield township, sergeants; Louis Gibson, James H. Miller, James C. Bailey, Isaac Cassel, Springfield township, corporals, Davis S. Bailey, Sykes Barnes, Matthew Campbell, Robinson Elder, Louis Gesell, George Samuel John, Jonothan, Jacob Paul and Simon Grim, Levi Hauger, Jeremiah Hann, Richard Hopkins, Samuel Johnston, Benjamin Keefer, Abraham R., David and James Kern, Ludwig Kimmel, James Leonard, Jacob McMillen, David and Samuel Nicholson, Jacob and Josiah Phillippi, Harrison Romesberger, Enoch Solomon, George See, and Perry Wilson, all of Springfield township; Joseph Stull, Amal Miller, Connellsville, Isaac and Charles Stull of Dunbar, Isaac Lowrie, Dunbar township; John B. Eicher, Jonas Dick, Henry and John Keefer, Bullskin township.

SENATOR CROW GETS ESTATE NEAR GRAVE OF BRADDOCK

Approval of Sale is Asked of Orphans' Court to End Long Course in Orphans' Court.

UNIONTOWN, May 17.—Senator William E. Crow today acquired the 101-acre tract of land near Braddock's grave in Wharton township by the payment of $1,500 and through a lengthy procedure in the orphans' court. The entire cost of the property to Senator Crow will amount to $9,675. Attorney D. W. McDonald, one of the executors of the estate of the late William C. McCormick, petitioned the orphans' court today for a writ of confirmation of the sale and to be relieved of carrying out the provisions of one paragraph of the late Mr. McCormick's will.

The tract which has been acquired by Senator Crow formerly was owned by the late William C. McCormick. He sold an undivided one-half interest to the late George A. McCormick, who paid $5,000 and gave a mortgage for the remaining $5,000. According to the provisions of the will William C. McCormick, the executors were to buy the undivided one-half interest of George A. McCormick, and Howell McCormick was to have a life interest in the tract after which the title to it was to go to his heirs.

Senator Crow purchased the life interest of Howell McCormick for $1,000 and bought the half-interest of the late George A. McCormick for $2,175, subject to the mortgage for $5,000. On the petition presented by the executors today it was stated that there are insufficient funds to buy back the undivided one-half interest, and they ask for leave to give Senator Crow a clear title to the interest of Howell McCormick's heirs. A price of $1,500 was placed on this interest. The property now becomes absolutely that of Senator Crow subject to a mortgage for $5,000, which recently has been acquired by Mrs. Crow.

A question that will have to be decided in the orphans court is the disposition of the $1,500 which Senator Crow has paid for a clear title to the property. This money likely will be paid to the guardian of the children of Howell McCormick and to the trustee appointed by the orphans' court of any unborn children of Howell McCormick. This money will be distributed to the children of Howell McCormick at his death and in the meantime the interest will be paid to Senator Crow for the reason that he purchased the life interest of Howell McCormick in the property.

An order was made for the payment of an allowance of $700 by R. M. Carroll, guardian of Edgar R. Beal, son of the late Dr. E. C. Beal, for expenses in college. Mr. Beal is now in his second year at Leland Stanford University, and is ill, with his mother, Mrs. Mollie Beal, in Los Angeles, Cal.

The Citizens Title & Trust Company was appointed guardian of Cecil Crawford, a minor son of Charles E. Crawford, late of North Union township. The property which goes to Cecil Crawford amounts to about $400.

HOME FROM WEST

Charles H. Black of Scottdale, Took in the Exposition.

Charles H. Black, of Scottdale, who recently returned from a four months' trip to the state of California, was a business caller in Connellsville Saturday. While at the Panama-Pacific exposition, he had the pleasure of reading The Courier which is on file in the Pennsylvania building.

"It was like a long letter from home," Mr. Black declares, "and the papers were only four days old when they reach the exposition. Harry M. Leighty, also of Scottdale, accompanied Mr. Black on the trip.

Mr. Black has done some extensive traveling, having visited 33 states of the union, Canada, Mexico, Hawaiian Islands, Philippine Islands and Japan. He has done a little over 1,300 miles. During the Spanish-American war he saw active service in the Philippines as a member of Company E, Tenth Pennsylvania Volunteers. When his enlistment was up, he was just 21 years old.

METHODISTS RAISE $32,500 TOWARD THE NEW CHURCH

This Sum is Pledged to be Raised During Period of Five Years.

$35,000 BY END OF THE WEEK

Bishop John W. Hamilton Launches the Financial Campaign and Response Exceeds Anticipations; Will Erect Sunday School Room First.

The First Methodist Episcopal congregation Sunday pledged $32,500 towards the new building proposition when the financial campaign was formally launched by Bishop John W. Hamilton of Boston. More than $20,000 was raised at the morning service and the balance in the evening. The official board expects to swell this total to $35,000 by the end of the week. Those interested in the proposition believe that this sum will be sufficient to purchase the additional property adjoining the present edifice authorized at a recent congregational meeting, and erect thereon a Sunday school building. When this task is completed the work of building the main edifice will be undertaken.

The money is to be paid monthly by the subscribers over the period of five years. Several contributions, those taken prior to the arrival of the bishop, cover seven years, and Bishop Hamilton, asking the Ladies' Aid Society for $3,000 instead of the $2,500 originally requested, gave them seven years in which to make good.

Under the subscription plan outlined by the bishop, members were asked to take shares on the basis of one for each $1 a month pledged. There were a few contributions of $1,000 each, one being from Mrs. Sarah E. Cochran, but the bulk of the $32,500 was raised from individual offerings of from $12 a month down to 10 cents. Scores of children were pledged by their parents to contribute their mite of 10 cents a month. The most popular subscription was that of one share, $1 a month, a total of $60. There were hundreds of these. Others took two, three, four, five and up to 10. There were a few blocks of 12 shares subscribed.

Bishop Hamilton proved a delightful solicitor. His sermon at the morning service and his running-fire comments during the raising of the money in the evening keeping the congregation in good humor. "Don't be afraid to smile," he said. "The time is past when folks are supposed to wear only long faces in church. Do you know," he said, pointing to a small boy in a front seat, "they only discovered children less than a hundred years ago? They used to think a boy was a man as soon as he was born, and they made him go to church in a straight-jacket. He would have been out of church for laughing like you did just now. Things have changed since then, and I am glad of it."

Dr. John J. Wallace, editor of the Pittsburg Christian Advocate, delivered the evening sermon, and he was followed by Bishop Hamilton, who took charge of the service. By 10 o'clock the congregation had subscribed $32,500, which Bishop Hamilton declared was more than he expected would have been possible, in view of the business depression.

"Business is going to be better. We are all going to have work before long, and it is not going to be a hard task to raise this building fund," he declared.

The bishop returned to Boston late last night, where his wife is seriously ill in a hospital.

BUSY SESSION OF COURT HELD; THREE DIVORCES GRANTED

Wife Freed Because Husband Took Child's Money to Gamble With.

NEW TRIALS ARE NOT GRANTED

Court Refuses to Give Zamarelli Another Chance; Insolvency Fails to to Save Youth from Staying in Jail on Paternity Charge; Other News.

Special to The Courier.

UNIONTOWN, May 18.—Opinions in seven cases were filed by Judge J. Q. Van Swearingen when court opened Tuesday morning, three divorces were granted, routine business was transacted, and the court took up the regular argument list comprising 126 cases in which counsel was heard in all matters in which they desire to present arguments.

The meanest man in Fayette county, if the testimony of his wife is true, is Harry S. Campbell, of Uniontown. According to statements of Mrs. Campbell, her husband took the money from the bank of his little children to gamble with. She said that he did this every time there was money in the bank. Mrs. Clara Campbell, who is a daughter of A. Drebert, East Main street, Connellsville, was granted a divorce from her husband. They were married November 30, 1904, at Cumberland. They have two children, now aged 8 and 11. Mrs. Campbell testified she left her husband February 20, 1909, because he made her life burdensome. She has been employed in a large department store in Connellsville for the last two years.

Mrs. Campbell testified her husband gambled almost every night until after midnight on Saturdays. She had him arrested three times to have him support the children.

Emma J. Burns of Vanderbilt was granted a divorce from her husband, Anthony Burns, Jr., on the ground of cruel and barbarous treatment, and Mura Lloyd Johnston of Connellsville was granted a divorce from her husband, Charles Johnston.

Attorney John P. Kephart presented a petition to Judge Van Swearingen asking for the transfer of the license at the Yough House, Connellsville, from H. M. Kephart, assignee of Paul J. Bolger, to S. M. Goodman.

On petition presented by Attorney H. George May, Captain Charles Harrison of the Salvation Army in Connellsville and his wife, Anna Harrison were granted an order for the adoption of Rosanna Waters, 5 years old, daughter of Kate Waters.

The injunction hearing of the Rainey company against D. J. Johnson and C. W. Johnson to restrain the Johnson's from drilling through the Rainey workings at Percy which was to have been heard before the court today was continued until June 22 by agreement of counsel.

Five thousand dollars damages is asked by Guiseppe Martucci from the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company in a suit filed in common pleas court by Attorneys S. R. Goldsmith and J. Kirk Renner, of Connellsville. The suit is for injuries alleged to have been received by Martucci in Elk county, near James City, on August 6, 1914. He declares he was injured when he was employed as a laborer and was struck by a frog he was assisting in putting in and pinned underneath it.

Sam Kenna was refused new trials in two cases in which he had been convicted before Judge Umbel of larceny and assault and battery.

In the case of R. A. Whiteside, for the use of E. E. Phelps, against Max Klein, which was before the court on a rule to open judgment and permit the defendant to make defense, the court discharged the rule and refused to open the judgment of $3,000 on a mortgage bond.

The motion of counsel for a new trial for Alfonse Zamarelli, convicted at the last term of court of feloneous rapo and adultery, was refused by the court. It was argued by council that the evidence in the case was not sufficient to sustain the verdict returned by the jury, but Judge Van Swearingen said the evidence was so conflicting and contradictory that a verdict might have been found and sustained either way, and so refused to interfere with the jury's verdict.

The petition for release from imprisonment of John Nevosky under the insolvent laws was refused by the court. The petitioner had been convicted of a paternity charge and had been sentenced to pay the mother of the child a stipulated sum for its support and be confined in the county jail until security for the payment of the money was given. He had also been convicted of seduction but was not sentenced on that charge in order that he might better provide for the child. After serving three months in jail he asked to be released under the insolvent laws as is sometimes done in such cases where the defendant is unable through poverty to comply with the sentence of the court, but a release in this case was refused by Judge Van Swearengin.

Judgments for want of sufficient affidavits of defense were entered in the cases of John T. Hoover against J. A. Sterling, and the Garfield Paint Company against S. S. Snader. In the first case the judgment was for the sum of $178.67, and was on a note which was not paid when due, the defendant contending that he had tendered a new note in renewal of the old one which the plaintiff should have taken, and in the second case the judgment was for the sum of $66.31, being the contract price of a barrel of linseed oil and five hundred pounds of white lead which the defendant claimed was not of the quality which it should have been, the plaintiff contending that it was not ordered for any special purpose and that it was of the ordinary quality of such merchandise.

Victim Prominent as a Conductor on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad; Pneumonia Fatal.

The death of Lee Blosser, 47 years old, a well known Baltimore & Ohio freight conductor, Thursday afternoon at his home on West Fayette street, marked the fourth death in the family of Mrs. Nancy Blosser in the past three years, three daughters having died within a period of about eight and one-half months. Mrs. Marietta Smith died November 17, 1912, Mrs. G. W. Whipkey, January 13, 1913, and Mrs. Maude E. Brown, wife of E. F. Brown, of Confluence, August 1, 1913. ROBBERY AT DAVIDSON

Three Houses Entered and Ransacked Early Sunday Morning.

Three houses at "Nigger Hill," near the Davidson coke works were entered early Sunday morning by intruders who apparently were more bent on mischief-making than robbery. Clothing, suit cases, trunks and other articles were dragged outside and ransacked, but values in them were overlooked. Several watches in a trunk were not disturbed.

At House No. 112 they took a trunk and suitcase, broke them open and threw the contents about. The trunks and part of the contents were found in a chicken coop in the rear of House 87, occupied by a family named Sozansky.

House No. 47, occupied by Mrs. Mikey and House No. 111, occupied by Walter Rice, were also entered, but nothing of value secured. A suit of clothes was taken out of the trunk and rolled in a mud puddle.

Robbers also entered the home of John Specter at Dutch Bottom. Silverware was taken from the house, but Spitzler fired on the burglar and he dropped his booty.

FAVOR STOCK EXHIBITS

Fayette Farmers Would Have Animals at the County Fairs.

Fayette farmers generally favor the proposition of permitting the exhibition of cattle, hogs and sheep at the county fairs this year, at least from counties where there has been no outbreak of the foot and mouth disease. The matter was broached at the meeting of the Union Farmers' Club last week by John T. Smith, following an inquiry to Mr. Smith from State Veterinarian C. J. Marshall.

Mr. Marshall is seeking to learn the sentiment of the farmers in regard to the matter. Mr. Smith will advise him in a few days of Fayette's attitude.

Fayette county is to have a fair at Dawson next fall, the first in many years, and the farmers favor a stock exhibit. They claim that stock raisers will depend upon the fair management to see there is no danger of infection.

NOT SCOTTDALE BOY.

Family Learns Young Man Was Not Killed at Youngstown.

Investigation by Frank McCudden, chief of police at Scottdale, has proven that it was not Jack Hudson of Scottdale, who was killed by a freight train at Youngstown, O., last Friday night.

Young Hudson was located at New Kensington by Francis O'Hara and last night he was gotten in telephone connection with his father, William Hudson. It is believed, however, that the body at Youngstown may be that of some other Scottdale youth. A boy named Boyle left that locality some time ago and no word has been received from him.

LIGHTNING PLAYS PRANKS; GIRL IS INJURED BY BOLT

Strikes Greenwood Home and Tears Door From Sitka School.

DAMAGE DONE TO A BEDROOM

Window Panes Smashed and Bedding Burned By Sparks; Bessie Elser, 19, Stunned and Burned, but Escapes Serious Injury; Some Hail Falls.

Lightning played queer pranks in this section during the two terrific thunder and hail storms which swept over Connellsville early Sunday morning. At least two buildings were struck and one person was injured. During a portion of the hard downpour hail fell in great quantities, but despite this fact the temperature later in the morning was unusually high, instead of bringing a cold snap the hail was followed by a warm day, although the mercury dropped with the rain of last night.

Bessie Elser, 19 years old, was painfully burned when a bolt of lightning struck the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Elser in Greenwood about 3.40 A. M. yesterday. The bolt hit the chimney and partially demolished it. It then coursed into Miss Elser's bedroom. The glass in two windows was shattered and sparks burned Miss Elser's bed. She was burned and stunned, but after recovering it was found that she had not been seriously injured. No one else in the house was affected by the experience suffered by the daughter. It had been reported that a brother of Miss Elser had been thrown from his bed, but this was not correct.

At the Sitka school at Morrell the lightning played another queer prank. It struck the flagpole on top of the school and then tore the door of the building off its hinges without doing other damage.

There were two distinct storms early Sunday morning. Both were accompanied by severe flashes of lightning and alarming thunderclaps. Some hail fell with the downpour which accompanied the first storm. The second storm was apparently less severe, although it was during it that the lightning struck in the section.

Sunday was comparatively mild, although a high wind blew throughout the afternoon. Late last night it rained rather hard and this was followed by falling mercury. It rained a bit this morning. The weather forecast is for cooler weather, with probable frost in event of the skies clearing. They were overcast throughout the morning.

OFFICIAL CHURCH BOARDS TO PASS UPON EVANGELIST

Ministerial Association Withholds Choice Until Laymen Approve It.

At a meeting of the Ministerial Association Monday the ministers decided to call a special meeting of the official boards of the various churches a week from next Sunday to pass upon the selection of an evangelist to conduct a big campaign here next fall. The ministers, it was stated, favor one of the several evangelists whose names were considered, but prefer that the laymen have an occasion to pass on their choice. The list was passed by a committee consisting of Revs. Buckner, Lambertson and Nelson.

It was decided at the meeting to hold the union services each Sunday evening during two summer months instead of one as heretofore. They will be held during July and August. Rev. G. L. C. Richardson and Rev. J. L. Proudfit were assigned the task of arranging for a tent and chairs for these meetings.

The ministers also voted to change the hour of Sunday evening services from 7.30 to 7.45, beginning next week.

MARRY AT NEW CASTLE

Miss Jean Lockhart Becomes Bride of Walter Smith of Detroit.

That love laughs at locksmiths and is not discouraged by unkind state laws was proven Monday when Miss Jean Lockhart of Connellsville became the bride of Walter Smith of Detroit, Mich., at New Castle, Pa. The couple had previously gone to Cleveland, O., but they found on their arrival that the Ohio state laws prohibits the granting of marriage licenses to any but residents of that state. They came back to New Castle, secured a license without trouble and were united at the parsonage of the Christian Church by Rev. Sniff.

Mrs. Smith was cashier at the Bell Telephone Company office here and rather than inconvenience her employer, Thomas Simpson, the district manager, she returned to her work today and will continue at her post until a successor is secured. Mr. Smith is now located at Detroit, where he has a good position with the Ford Motor Car Company. He was formerly located here. His bride is the daughter of Mrs. Margaret Lockhart of York avenue. They will reside in Detroit.

GIVE GOOD MEASURE

Sealer of Weights Bryner is After the Strawberry Dealers.

Warnings have been issued to fruit dealers by J. S. Bryner, sealer of weights and measures, that the practice of selling short-measure strawberries must stop or arrests will follow. It is said that some dealers buy strawberries in the usual quart-size boxes and re-box them in smaller receptacles, making three small boxes out of two large ones.

By selling these small boxes two for a quarter where other dealers charge 15 or 18 cents for the large boxes, they stimulate trade, purchasers not of ar ying that they are getting short measure. A strawberry box should contain a quart, though there is no recognized standard for them.

ASSAULT ALLEGED

Revere Woman Said to Have Beaten Her Husband's Friend.

Mrs. Fannie Barnes of Revere was arraigned Saturday night before Alderman Eugene O'Donovan of the West Side on a charge of assault and battery made by Mrs. Melcena Davis of Paul Works. Last Tuesday, it is alleged, she went to the Davis home and gave Mrs. Davis a severe beating.

Mrs. Barnes was arrested Saturday morning by Constable Russell Stillwagon and placed in the police station pending her hearing. The case was settled by the defendant paying the costs.

Happy, Thankful People

When disease is removed and health restored in nearly all chronic, nervous and special diseases by the new medical treatment of bacterins, antitoxins, phylaeogens, salversan and neosalversan (606 and 914), and in connection with twentieth century office methods of treatments by Mechano-Therapy, Atamo-Radio, Bi-Chemic, the new "Non-Shocking" Electrical and other Scientific Drugless systems results are positively obtained in the treatment of the sick that is simply impossible with the use of medicines taken into the stomach or by old electric methods alone. Think the above fact over and if sick or afflicted why depend on any one old set method of treatment, when you can secure what is best for you and better results? We accept for treatment all curable diseases. Consult us (who are regular registered physicians), and see what treatment or treatments you need. We are located permanently. Hours 9 A. M. to 8 P. M., Monday and Friday.

Bill For Storage Dam at Headwaters Passes Finally.

HARRISBURG, May 13.—All efforts to put the Senate on record as to the Lusitania disaster were stopped this morning when the Jenkins resolution appealing to the President and Congress to protect American lives and property appeared as a favorable report from the committee on foreign relations. Mr. Jenkins demanded immediate action, but Senator Vare had it sent to the committee on elections.

The Magee bill for a storage reservoir at the headwaters of the Youghiogheny passed finally as did the bill prohibiting the sale of air rifles to minors under 18 years.

The House cleared a first reading calendar of 100 bills, including 60 appropriation measures.

LETTERS LESS FREQUENT

German Students Write Few Letters Since War Has Been On.

Letters which German students of the high school have been receiving from students in the German schools, through arrangements made by the German instructors, Misses Freed and Weaver, have become less frequent since the war began.

The letters written by the German students were half in English and half in German. The local students answered similarly and each made criticisms of the language used. The German of the English students provoked as much merriment among the German boys and girls as their awkward English did here. One of the last letters received here warned American students not to believe all that the English said about Germany and referred to them as "infamous dogs."

SOIL NEEDS LIME

Advice to Farmers Follows Tests by High School Students.

Tests of soil from in and about Connellsville made at the chemistry laboratory under the direction of Professor C. S. Palmer, show that it contains much acid, but no base. This condition demands the application of lime if good crops are to be had, as only a few do well on acid soil.

Many crops, such as red clover and alfalfa, cannot be raised on soil that contains acid alone, and it would be advisable for local farmers to add lime to their soil.

The chemistry students are spending the last few weeks of school in making tests of different outside materials. The soil tests were made yesterday, but previously water, milk, eggs and other substances have been tested.

TWO BADLY BURNED

Hurt When Gasoline in Cleaning Establishment Explodes.

Two persons were seriously burned in an explosion of gasoline at the tailoring establishment of Stewart & Eckenrode on West Main street, Uniontown, about 9 o'clock last Thursday. The injured are:

JACOB GARNICK, severe burns of the face, arms and cuts of face and body.

RALPH BENSICK, 14, badly burned about the arms and hands

The explosion caused a fire which resulted in about $150 damage to the building, before it was extinguished by the fire department. A pool of gasoline had collected on the concrete floor of the cleaning room. Some of this flowed under a gas stove and was ignited. Garnick and his assistant, Bensick, were at work nearby. Both were severely burned in the flash that followed. Garnick attempted to escape through a wired window and in addition to his burns suffered cuts of the hands and face.

SAFETY GATES IN WHITE

Baltimore & Ohio Adopts Uniform Color for Crossing Appliances

Safety gates at highway crossings of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad tracks hereafter will be painted white so that the most distinctive warning may be afforded travelers on state highways and other thoroughfares in minimizing the danger of accidents Notice concerning the adoption of a standard color for crossing gates has been issued to the forces throughout the territory served by this railroad in connection with its campaign conducted systematically for some time past of employing watchmen in uniforms to patrol many busy highway crossings and posting warning signs to protect the public

That nothing should be left undone in this direction track walkers laborers and other employes have been drilled in urging upon the public utmost caution in using highway crossings and requesting pedestrians to refrain from using the right of way as a thoroughfare

The Baltimore & Ohio has signified also its intention to co-operate with automobile clubs, public officials and other interests by so displaying signs that those approaching the tracks will have timely warning To the extent of the railroad's responsibility it will co-operate with road commissioners and other authorities in placing warning signs on public highways adjacent to the railroad, thus taking every precaution in the prevention of accidents

COUNTRY'S SCRAP HEAP VALUED AT $60,000,000

That Amount is Recovered Annually from Secondary Metals Says Geological Survey

In 1914 the value of the secondary metals exclusive of gold silver platinum iron and steel recovered in the United States was $57,039,706 according to J P Dunlop of the United States Geological Survey This is a decrease from 1913 of $15,746,321 the secondary metals recovered in that year being valued at $72,786,027

The term secondary does not imply that these metals which are recovered from scrap metal sweepings skimmings drosses etc are of inferior quality but is used to distinguish them from primary metals which are derived from ore While the survey figures relative to lead zinc copper aluminum tin and antimony given in this statement cover a large field and form an essential addition to the reports on primary metals the scope of the inquiry probably reveals less than one-half the extent of the waste metal trade The value of the old iron and steel reused amounts to millions of dollars

For a few purposes requiring special purity of material it is necessary to employ primary or virgin pig metal but as a general rule secondary metals can be used in whole or in part and most foundries use them The manufacturing and railway centers contribute the bulk of the metal waste and when trade and consequently transportation are dull the production of scrap metal declines Over 90 per cent of the refining and smelting of drosses and scrap metals in the United States is confined to the territory east of St Louis and north of the Ohio river

The output of secondary copper (including that in brass) in 1914 was 127,882 tons being over 22 per cent of the primary copper smelted in the United States from domestic ores during the year

The secondary lead recovered amounted to 61,062 tons equal to over 11 per cent of the primary refined lead produced in the United States

The amount of secondary zinc recovered in 1914 was 71,632 tons equal to over 20 per cent of the production of primary zinc during the year

The recovery of secondary tin is of essential importance there being no domestic tin ore smelted in the United States However some tin concentrates were exported from Nome Alaska in 1914 The secondary tin recovered in 1914 (12,117 tons valued at $8,587,158) was over 26 per cent of the tin imported during the year

In aluminum the recoveries in 1914 amounted to 4,022 tons valued at $1,173,119

Copies of the detailed survey statement of the secondary metal output can be had on application to the Director U S Geological Survey Washington D C

GETS BIG ORDER

Cambria Steel Company to Share in Russian War Contract

JOHNSTOWN May 13 —It was announced here that the Cambria Steel Company has landed a $750,000 order for car axles to be shipped to Russia in the near future probably by way of the Pacific Ocean and through Asiatic Russia to avoid attacks by German vessels It is also announced that more than $1,000,000 additional will be realized on other orders for foreign shipment some of which come from nations not now at war

Business at the big mills has been picking up considerably of late being helped by an order for 1,000 steel cars from the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company and it is expected the local mills will land a portion of the order for steel cars that will be placed by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in the near future

URGE CONSERVATION

Spring Trip of B & O Committee Will be Made Soon

Announcement has been made by the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad that the spring tour of the company's conservation committee will be made soon This committee was inaugurated on the road last year and was the cause of saving thousands of dollars in the saving of scrap iron steel and brass which was scattered from one end of the system to the other going to waste

This was all picked up and sent to Baltimore where it was sorted out and thousands of dollars worth of scrap found to be as good as new This was used over again thus effecting a big saving Semi-annual tours are now made over the system by experts in conservation and all scrap is ordered picked up and sent to the general storeroom at Baltimore

AFFECTS NO ORE LINES

Steel Trade is Not Concerned by Great Lakes Carrying Decision

The steel trade is not directly affected by the decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission on the Panama Canal act clause which says railroads owning and operating steamship lines on the Great Lakes must give them up after December 1

Ore carrying steamship lines are not affected according to traffic officials here The principal eastern trunk lines which carry the great volume of freight between the Atlantic seaboard and the west are affected Reports circulated to the effect that steel companies operating ore boats and railroads would be affected are without foundation

ELECTRIC PLANTS FOR FARMS

Engineering College Students Make Model of Complete System

A complete electric light and power plant small enough to stand on a kitchen table and complete enough to light the surrounding territory was one of the exhibits made by the engineering students of Highland Park College Des Moines Ia recently

A little steam engine which though small was run with a pressure of from 10 to 80 pounds was connected to an electric generator from which ran a transmission line of copper wire At the other end of this line were a number of miniature electric lamps motors and even an X ray machine operated by the current from the miniature power plant

More skill is required to make these miniature electrical installations than to make life size but the work was all done by students of Highland Park College of Engineering An important feature of this miniature plant is that it may be used as a model for larger plants specially adapted for use on farms and in small towns and country residences

DEMAND SENDS BENZOL UP

Allies Heavy Purchasers With Domestic Inquiries Ignored

Increasing demands from the purchasing agents of the Allies for benzol has resulted in further advances in price of the product Domestic inquiries for benzol and toluol have found few producers able to fill the orders because the output of practically every available plant has been contracted for by the war agents for a long period ahead

The Lackawanna Steel Company the Republic Iron & Steel Company the Laclede Gas Light Company of St Louis and the Woodward Iron Company of Alabama are among the companies which have completed large benzol plants within the last week or are rushing new establishments to completion to meet the extraordinary demand

FATHER AND SON HELD ON CHARGE OF SWIPING BRASS

Police Go to Stewarton to Find Man Alleged to Have Sold the Metal to Them

Detected in the act of conveying about 300 pounds of brass to a junk yard Daniel Walton and his son Daniel Walton Jr were arrested last night and are now being held on suspicion of having stolen it Constable H Kottler and Baltimore & Ohio patrolmen went to Stewarton this morning to arrest a man from whom the Waltons claim they bought the brass It is supposed to have been stolen from the railroad in the vicinity of Stewarton

Patrolman George Washabaugh detected the Waltons hiding in the junk yard with a suspicious looking package and after an investigation the younger Walton known as the junk ing master was arrested by Chief Bowers The father was apprehended later and both were locked up in the city lockup pending a further investigation of the thefts A charge of receiving stolen goods was lodged against them before Alderman Fred Munk

Daniel Walton Jr was arrested on suspicion soon after the robbery of a West Penn motorman on the South Connellsville line some months ago He and two companions served a short term in jail on a charge of disorderly conduct though no evidence was secured to connect them with the holdup

Everson officers have as yet been unable to identify a large quantity of brass confiscated when two men were arrested with it in their possession yesterday

COL. BOPE ENTHUSIASTIC

Sees Increased Use for Steel and Predicts Big Business

Colonel Henry P Bope vice president and general sales manager of the Carnegie Steel Company in a Pittsburg interview expressed confidence that the country's and steel is fast approaching production He is quoted as follows

The uses for steel are increasing all the time and more steel is required for the old uses Take the case of the railroads A recent inquiry for equipment called for cars of a total capacity of 77 tons which with the weight of the car itself would make the total loaded weight 100 tons A car so heavy will destroy a light rail and heavier rails must follow If the roads were to buy all the rails they need the single item of extra weight on this basis would increase their needs perhaps 1,000,000 tons

I have given only a few instances A trustworthy sign of better times for the trade and the industry generally is to be found in the crop reports I should not be surprised if we had a $1,000,000,000 crop this year The farmer is the backbone of the country's prosperity but incidentally the farmer is a great user of steel He buys wire nails automobiles and agricultural implements
